How Does DVC Work?

- Members purchase a real estate interest in one of the DVC resorts
- Members buy a certain number of points, which represent their ownership in a specific DVC Resort. The number of points needed for a vacation varies based on the resort, room type, view, number of nights and season
- Traveling at slower times of the year requires fewer vacation points than busier seasons
- Members decide when, where, how long to stay each time, and the size of their accommodation, based on availability
